

Andy Broad - Delivering The Blues

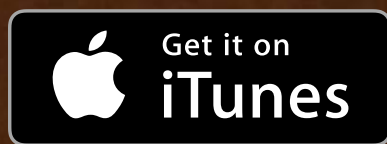

A full time travelling bluesman for more than 25 years, Andy Broad has driven tens of thousands of miles, delivering his passion for the blues to venues far and wide. Since starting out playing in the street he has played every type of venue from bars, clubs and restaurants, to theatres, art centres, private houses, cathedrals and even an ancient Roman church in the South of France.

As well as performing to an ever growing fan base throughout the UK, Andy has taken his music to Europe, including France, Germany and Belgium, and in 2014 performed on the west coast of the U.S.A.

Andy Broad likes his blues raw and funky, and his original blues draws in many influences, from the Texan blues of Lightnin' Hopkins, the Mississippi Delta styles of Robert Johnson and Son House, the electrified Chicago sounds of Muddy Waters, Howlin' Wolf and John Lee Hooker to the funkier soulful sounds of Robert Cray and Albert Collins. Added to this mix you will occasionally hear Latin hints, spiced with melodies from Africa and India. A vibrant sound, guaranteed to entertain.

In Andy's solo set he delivers the music via agile and florid fingerpicking, combined with flamboyant slide playing, and passionate vocals, tied down with a steady foot stomping beat.

www.broad.ology.org.uk
facebook.com/andybroadbluespage
youtube.com/broadblues

"Clever and accomplished guitar work embellished with a resonant clear vocal ... some fine slide"

Bob Chaffey - "Blues In Britain" magazine

"... some superb picking and stupendous vocals"

Russell Hill - "Maverick" magazine

"As good a Delta representation as you're likely to get from someone this side of the pond."

Tom Walker - "Blues Matters" magazine

"... a rollicking bit of slide ... "

Chris Broom - "The News", Portsmouth

Photo © Tom Cramer 2011 www.tomcramer.com